Proposal Development Resources and Tools

- CADRE's NSF Proposal Toolkit offers a collection of key resources.
- CADRE's Proposal Development Timeline, which may be particularly helpful for those new to NSF proposal writing since it shares steps that you need to take (such as getting an NSF ID).
- NSF merit review process.
- New Proposal & Award Policies & Procedures Guide (PAPPG) 24-1.
- Resources on Bio Sketch and current & pending support.
- NSF Proposal Toolkit proposal submission resources.
- Contact information for tech support with Research.gov.
- In their video podcast Uncovering the Hidden Curriculum of DRK-12, Drs. Ilana Horn and Terrell Morton describe common proposal pitfalls in an episode that features several NSF program directors.

DRK-12 Project Work

- Library of research and products from DRK-12 project work.
- Monthly topical Spotlights on DRK-12 project work.
- Examples of DRK-12 projects that engaged families in their work/research.
- CADRE Learning Series and briefs on AI in STEM education research. (The first brief and webinar on the ethical use of AI in STEM education research are posted. Stay tuned for briefs and webinars on AI in STEM teaching and in STEM learning coming this fall!)
- CADRE's June 2024 newsletter focused on developing and maintaining partnerships.
- CADRE announces new DRK-12 awards in our newsletter: subscribe.

Additional Support

- Questions can be directed to the DR-K12 program inbox: DRLDRK12@nsf.gov.
- You can submit a 1-page concept paper to NSF by emailing the program inbox: DRLDRK12@nsf.gov. NSF responds to inquiries until 4–6 weeks prior to the proposal submission deadline.
- If you're interested in serving as a reviewer—a great learning opportunity—email DRLDRK12@nsf.gov.
- The Evidence Quality and Reach \(EQR\) Hub offers learning events, services, and resources related to research methods; knowledge translation; and diversity, equity, and inclusion to current and aspiring DRK-12 awardees.
